SERENO E. BISHOP PURTHER EXPLAINS THE CAUSES OF THE RECENT REVOLUTION-PERVERSION TO HEATHENISM-DAN-GER FROM LOTTERY SCHEMES AND THE OPICM TRAFFIC

At 2 p. m. on Tuesday, January 17, a preconcerted gathering of the enrolled riflemen was made at the armory, where arms and ammunitions were being conveyed. At 2:30 p. m. the members of the Pro conveyed. At 2:30 p. m. the members of the Provisional Government suddenly went to the Government House, which they found unoccupied either by the Queen's forces or their own men, who had found delay in getting their arms. A struggle had been expected, but the unarmed leaders quietly took possession and read a proclamation of the new Government, while their men came in by squads. Attention had happily been diverted from this important movement by a struggle at a business corner, in which one of some policemen attempting to arrest a load of arms and ammunition was shot down. The Queen's Cabinet seemed to have apprehended that the first movement of the citizens would be upon the first movement of the citizens would be upon the size of the citizens would be upon the first movement of the citizens would be upon the first movement of the citizens would be upon the first movement of the citizens would be upon the station-house, which was heavily protected and where they were then gathered, leaving the Government

THE COURTS.

TRYING TO PROVE THAT HE IS AN HEIR. The trial of the suit brought by Louis Defenderf learge A. Defendorf, was begun in the Superier Court, before Judge Freedman, yesterday. George A. Defendorf was the son of George Defendorf, a awyer, of this city, and a grandson of Jane Black an, who formerly owned the property No. 652 Broadway, valued at about $125,000. George A. Defenorf's children are entitled to one-third of this prop-

When Mr. Defendorf died, on April 7, 1800, it was supposed that he left only two children, Allen D. M. Defenderf and Winifred I. Defenderf, both minors. The plaintiff alleges that he is the son of George A. Defendorf and Eliza Jane Defendorf, and was born wenty-nine years ago. The defence admits the mariage of George A. Defendorf and Eliza Jane Van dervoort, but denies that Louis Vandervoort is the on of George A. Defendorf, or that he was born in lawful wedlock.

The object of the testimony yesterday was to prove that the marriage took place before the pinintiff was born, and that he was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Defenderf. The trial will be continued to-day.

MR. BAILEY AND THE BIG GARDEN.

HE HAS NOT SECURED CONTROL OF IT YET-THE ANNUAL MEETING IN MAY.

The annual meeting of the Madison Square Garden Company does not take place till May. The resignation of Adolf Ladenburg was forced. He went to Earope two weeks ago to attend his sick wife, and felt that it was obligatory on him to resign the treasurership, as he intended to be absent at least a year.
James T. Woodward, president of the Hanover Na. tional Bank, was chosen treasurer in his stead, and the directors congratulated themselves on securing o good a man. F. K. Sturats is still the president

There was no meeting of the Garden directors yes terday, and Mr. Batley has not acquired a controlling interest in the Garden, and is not likely to do so for some time. Thomas liftchcock and David H. King have sold their interest in the Garden, but it is said that Mr. Railey is not the purchaser. Mr. Ladenburg is still much interested in the Gar-den, and is working hard in the interest of the flower show.
